The purpose of Probation and Community Intervention Services is to increase public safety by reducing juvenile delinquency through effective intervention and case management services to youth on diversion, probation, and post-commitment supervision. Probation and Community Intervention promotes offender accountability using restorative sanctions and treatment services that strengthen families and help support youth in becoming responsible citizens.

Services described in this chapter are those provided to youth after adjudication is rendered or deferred. Probation intake services are described in the Delinquency Intake chapter.

Diversion services are non-judicial alternatives used to keep less serious offenders from being processed through the traditional juvenile justice system. These services are intended to intervene at an early stage of delinquency, decrease subsequent offenses during and after participation in the programs, and provide for an array of services to juvenile offenders. These services can range from programs such as teen courts, mediation services, and the Juvenile Alternative Sanctions Program, to more intensive services like Intensive Delinquency Diversion Services (IDDS).

Intensive Delinquency Diversion Services (IDDS) programs offer services to a specific population of juvenile offenders who are at high risk of becoming chronic offenders and who qualify for diversion based on certain criminogenic needs. Risk to reoffend is based on the Positive Achievement Change Tool (PACT) assessment instrument. These factors include school behavior and performance problems, family problems, substance abuse issues, and pre-delinquent behaviors such as running away. Intensive Delinquency Diversion Services are provided through a competitively procured private service provider in each of Florida's 20 judicial circuits.

Intensive case management services are provided six days a week and include services outside the normal 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. workday to ensure that youth and families have adequate access. Typical intervention services include:

- Treatment plan supervision
- Diagnostic evaluation services
- Social and life skills enhancement
- Substance-abuse counseling
- Pre-vocational services
- Restitution
- Behavior management
- Mental health services
- Counseling services
- Community services
- Academic assistance
- Transportation

An integral part of program service delivery is the establishment of appropriate partnerships with local resources that can provide services at a reduced cost. The length of participation is designed to be between five and seven months.

Release from the program is based on the youth's performance in the program and an assessment of the potential for reoffending.

The Positive Achievement Change Tool is used by the JPO to assess a youth's needs and risk to public safety.

Probation Supervision is ordered by the court in cases involving a youth who has been determined to have committed a delinquent act.

While on probation, the youth's activities are restricted as the assigned judge directs. In many cases, youth are required to participate in services targeting identified needs and risk factors as a condition of their probation. Juvenile probation officers (JPO) are employees of the Department who serve as the primary case manager for the purpose of managing, coordinating, and monitoring the services provided and sanctions required for each youth.

In addition to case management services, the JPO is responsible for the intake of youth upon arrest. Intake services begin when the youth or the youth's case paperwork is delivered to the Department. Services provided by JPOs at intake include: a delinquency history records search, screening for detention placement, a suicide risk assessment, a risk and needs assessment, and a mental health and substance-abuse screening.

Juvenile probation officers have two main functions: intake services and supervision of youth.

After this initial contact with the youth, the JPO must interview the youth, his or her parents, the arresting officer, the victim(s), and other parties in order to make a recommendation to the state attorney regarding whether to file a petition for court processing. Youth placed in residential commitment programs are assigned a JPO who will assist the parent(s)/guardian(s) and program staff, as necessary, to ensure coordination and planning for the youth's successful completion of the program.

Planning for the youth's transition back into the community begins at the commitment conference when appropriate post-commitment services are identified. Successful transition involves the ongoing efforts on the part of the youth, parent(s)/guardian(s), treatment team, and JPO. Prior to the youth's release from residential care, the program will conduct an exit conference to finalize plans for the youth's release. It is at this time that the JPO will make post-residential service referrals, if indicated.

For youth on probation, a Youth Empowered Success (YES) Plan is developed that serves as the primary planning tool for the administration and organization of case management services. The YES Plan describes the action steps and target dates for completion of all court-ordered sanctions and goals in order to earn a recommendation for termination from supervision. While the youth is under supervision of the Department on probation, conditional release or post-commitment probation, the JPO will make contact (e.g., face-to-face, telephone, review of written reports) with the youth, family, law enforcement, and service providers to ensure compliance with the court order as well as YES Plan sanctions and goals. Violations of probation include new law violations and non-law or technical violations, such as chronic truancy or refusal to attend a day treatment program. When violations occur, the JPO may file an affidavit of violation of probation with the state attorney who will decide whether to petition the court for a hearing. The court approves final termination from probation.

The PACT assessment instrument is used by the JPO to assess a youth's needs and risk to public safety. The most appropriate level of probation supervision is determined based on risk factors statistically validated to predict risk to reoffend, including criminal history and the current offense. A reassessment instrument is completed every 90 days or sooner if a change in supervision is needed because of a new law violation or if the youth's degree of compliance changes. The frequency of intervention with the youth is based on the youth's level of risk to re-offend as determined by the PACT assessment, the youth's compliance with court-ordered sanctions, and participation in treatment.

Probation Day Treatment programs are facility-based, and target youth on probation in need of a higher level of supervision and service. Youth participate in day treatment supervision, programming, and education. Day treatment programs provide counseling, recreation, vocational training and on-site educational programs during the day as well as evenings and often weekends. JPOs or counselors monitor progress of the youth at home, school, and work, as well as the youths' compliance with court sanctions. In addition, individual, family, and small group counseling may be provided. All day treatment programs are operated by DJJ contracted providers. Day treatment services are provided by contracted providers.

Post-Commitment Services are provided to youth released from residential commitment programs. These programs assist with transitioning youth back into their homes and communities. Types of services include contracted day treatment services, contracted community supervision services, state-operated community supervision services, and vocational training. Youth can either be placed on conditional release or post-commitment probation status.

Day treatment programs for youth on conditional release are similar to those serving youth at the front end of the system. Activities include on-site educational services, counseling, recreation, and community service projects. Community supervision services involve a DJJ JPO or a case manager from a contracted program monitoring the youth's progress at home, school, or work and compliance with other sanctions (curfew, community service, and restitution). Although length of supervision varies, most programs are designed to last three to seven months.

Post-commitment probation (PCP) is a statutorily defined probationary status for juveniles released from DJJ custody but over whom the juvenile court has retained jurisdiction. Similar to probation, the objectives of PCP are to monitor behavior, direct juveniles to community services appropriate to their needs, and aid juveniles in recognizing alternatives to crime. The court must approve termination from PCP. There are some post-commitment residential programs listed in this report. These programs were contracted through Probation and Community Intervention to provide additional services post-release from a residential commitment program.

Under Secretary Walter's leadership, the Department has undertaken an ambitious reform agenda, which is described in detail in the Roadmap to System Excellence, available at:

<http://prod.djj.state.fl.us/docs/legislative-affairs/roadmap-to-system-excellence-9-25-2012.pdf?sfvrsn=2>

As a key component of the Department's transformation of the juvenile justice service continuum, it will continue to shift resources from costly, underutilized commitment placements to ensure adequate funding for the remaining residential programs and to enhance front-end, community-based services.

An important component of this resource alignment is increasing transition services by eliminating aftercare contracts, absorbing the supervisory component of aftercare within DJJ, and reinvesting the entire funding in additional contracted, community-based transition services. Services such as vocational and educational assistance, transitional housing, transportation assistance, and mentoring services will be expanded with the reallocated funds in an attempt to combat Florida's high post-commitment recidivism rate.

Redirection was established by the Florida Legislature to use community-based alternatives in lieu of residential commitment for those youth that meet certain criteria. Redirection is an alternative option that can be used by JPOs as a sanction for lack of compliance with the YES Plan. The Redirection program is offered in 19 of Florida's 20 judicial circuits (none in Circuit 3) and allows the youth and family to participate in Multi-Systemic Therapy (MST) or Functional Family Therapy (FFT) instead of being placed in a residential facility.

MST services consist of intensive family- and community-based treatment that addresses the multiple determinants of serious antisocial behavior in juvenile offenders. The multi-systemic approach views individuals as being nested within a complex network of interconnected systems that encompass individual, family, and extra-familial (peer, school, neighborhood) factors. Intervention may be necessary in any one or a combination of these systems. MST services target chronic or substance abusing juvenile offenders and their families at high risk of out-of-home placement. The major goals of MST are to empower parents with the skills and resources needed to independently address the difficulties that arise in raising teenagers, and to empower youth to cope with family, peer, school, and neighborhood problems.

FFT is an empirically grounded and well documented family intervention program for dysfunctional youth. FFT is applied to a wide range of problem youth and their families in various multiethnic and multicultural contexts. Interventions range, on average, from 8 to 12 one-hour sessions for mild cases and up to 30 sessions of direct service for more difficult situations, with sessions spread over a 3 month period. FFT is conducted both in clinical settings as an outpatient therapy and as a home-based model.

Brief Strategic Family Therapy (BSFT) is an intervention service for at-risk youth and those who abuse substances or are delinquent. BSFT has two goals: (1) improve familial relationships that evolve from behavioral problems presented by a youth, and (2) improve relationships between groups (peers, school, etc.) that impact the behavior of the youth. BSFT also addresses conflict that may be caused by differences in cultural norms and values.

Probation Enhancement Services (PES) are additional services a child under the Department's supervision may be referred to as an overlay service in addition to standard supervision. When in a PES placement, the child is also simultaneously either in a probation, post-commitment probation, probation day treatment, or conditional release status. Probation Enhancement Services may include mental health counseling, substance abuse counseling, mentoring, career and education enhancement activities, parent and youth support groups/counseling, and respite services. These placements often consist of short-term programs that target specific youth needs that have been identified. The youth's JPO continues to monitor progress while he or she participates in PES.

Electronic monitoring was implemented this fiscal year as an additional tool for the JPOs to provide close supervision of juveniles before placement in detention or commitment facilities. The juvenile court approves electronic monitoring before it is implemented.

Outcome Evaluation Performance

The following table shows the Probation and Community Intervention (PCI) Program Profile Summaries and Outcomes, which includes total releases, the percentage of youth adjudicated for offenses committed during supervision (ODS), number of completions, completion rates, demographic characteristics, average length of stay, and recidivism rates. Program Profile Summaries and Outcomes are based on the number of youth released from a PCI program in FY 2010-11. Fiscal year 2010-11 data are presented so that it is possible to track recidivism (defined as delinquent or criminal referrals/arrests that resulted in a juvenile adjudication or conviction) for one year from program completion.

During FY 2010-11, there were a total of 52,305 releases and 42,284 completions from the PCI program areas.

Program Area	Total Releases	Completions	%ODS	%Recidivism
Diversion Services	22,059	21,286	96%	N/A	13%
Intensive Delinquency Diversion Services	3,296	2,178	66%	8%	13%
Probation Services - State Operated	17,422	13,026	75%	31%	19%
Probation/CBIS Services - Provider Operated	340	140	41%	37%	31%
Probation Enhancement Services	1,228	799	65%	24%	23%
Day Treatment and Minimum Risk Commitment Programs	1,764	1,033	59%	44%	31%
Redirection Programs	1,487	1,050	71%	23%	33%
Post Commitment Services - Provider Operated	2,996	1,762	59%	26%	36%
Post Commitment Services - State Operated	1,713	1,010	59%	22%	30%

The rates of offenses during supervision ranged from a high of 44% of the releases from day treatment and minimum-risk commitment to a low of 8% for intensive delinquency diversion services. Completion rates varied from a high of 96% for diversion services to a low of 41% from provider-operated probation/CBIS services.

Given that PCI programs serve a wide variety of youth, from those with no prior offense history to those who have been committed, the substantial differences in the average prior seriousness indices observed across the program areas are as expected. Youth completing IDDS and other diversion programs had the least serious delinquency histories, while youth who were previously committed and who participated in post-commitment services had the most serious delinquency histories. Youth completing intensive programs such as day treatment and Redirection had more serious histories than youth completing general probation.

¹The ODS is the percentage of releases adjudicated for an offense during supervision. 'Any' includes any New Law Violations or non-law violation; 'New Law Violations' include only misdemeanor or felony offenses.

²N = number of cases. Italics indicate the program completed fewer than 15 youth; therefore, care should be taken in interpreting these data.

³These programs have closed, changed providers, or have had a structural programmatic change since the time period of the evaluation.

* Subsequent adjudications or convictions is the official recidivism definition for the Department of Juvenile Justice. As of the 2011 Comprehensive Accountability Report, violations of community supervision are no longer counted as recidivism.

¹The ODS is the percentage of releases adjudicated for an offense during supervision. 'Any' includes any New Law Violations or non-law violation; 'New Law Violations' include only misdemeanor or felony offenses.

²N = number of cases. Italics indicate the program completed fewer than 15 youth; therefore, care should be taken in interpreting these data.

³These programs have closed, changed providers, or have had a structural programmatic change since the time period of the evaluation.

* Subsequent adjudications or convictions is the official recidivism definition for the Department of Juvenile Justice. As of the 2011 Comprehensive Accountability Report, violations of community supervision are no longer counted as recidivism.

¹The ODS is the percentage of releases adjudicated for an offense during supervision. 'Any' includes any New Law Violations or non-law violation; 'New Law Violations' include only misdemeanor or felony offenses.

²N = number of cases. Italics indicate the program completed fewer than 15 youth; therefore, care should be taken in interpreting these data.

³These programs have closed, changed providers, or have had a structural programmatic change since the time period of the evaluation.

* Subsequent adjudications or convictions is the official recidivism definition for the Department of Juvenile Justice. As of the 2011 Comprehensive Accountability Report, violations of community supervision are no longer counted as recidivism.
