Statewide Delinquency Youth Referral Rates

Youth between the ages of 10 and 17 are considered the population most at-risk of becoming delinquent. During FY 2006-07, there were more than 1.89 million youth at-risk for delinquency in Florida. In this same year, 91,497 youth were referred to the Department for a delinquent offense. This represents a delinquency rate of 48 youth referred per 1,000 among the at-risk population. Between FY 2002-03 and FY 2006-07, the population at-risk grew by 10% however, the number of youth referred to DJJ decreased by six percent. This represents a 15% drop in the delinquency rate from 57 to 48 youth referred per 1,000 youth at-risk in the population.

Youth Referred by Offense Seriousness

During FY 2006-07, the majority of youth (52%) referred to DJJ were referred for the most serious offense as a misdemeanor. Forty-one percent of the youth were referred for felony offenses while less than 7% were referred for other offenses. The “other offense” category includes violations of probation or conditional release, cases reopened, cases transferred to other counties, and interstate compact cases. Misdemeanor offenses have historically represented the most common offense category for which youth are referred to DJJ. Over the last five fiscal years, the number of youth referred for felony offenses and misdemeanor offenses has dropped by 1% and 11%, respectively. During the same period, the number of youth referred for “other” offenses declined by five percent.

Person Offenses

Overall, person offenses remained essentially unchanged between FY 2002-03 and FY 2006-07 (from 36,804 to 36,256). The majority of person offenses during FY 2006-07 involved misdemeanor assault/battery (20,078) followed by aggravated assault/battery (9,869), which is a felony. Two felony offenses, murder/manslaughter and attempted murder/manslaughter, increased significantly, however, during this time period. Combined, these offenses increased 90% between FY 2002-03 and FY 2006-07 (from a combined 109 to 207 offenses). Armed robbery also increased from 800 to 1,337 offenses during this five-year period (a 67% increase).

Substance-Related Offenses

During FY 2006-07, there were 17,230 referrals for drug and alcohol offenses. Marijuana misdemeanor offenses accounted for nearly half the total. The most serious type of drug offense, non-marijuana felonies, accounted for 4,520 or 26% of all drug and alcohol referrals. Referrals for non-marijuana felonies have increased 28% since FY 2002-03 (from 3,522 to 4,520). In general, however, during the last five years the total number of drug and alcohol offenses decreased seven percent. Notably, misdemeanor alcohol possession decreased from 2,322 offenses in FY 2002-03 to 1,893 in FY 2006-07, representing an 18% reduction.

Program Expenditures

The following table provides total state versus federal expenditures for intake services and includes self-reported federal expenditures from private provider organizations. The source documents from which these amounts were derived are as follows: Florida Accounting Information Resource Report at Level 2 for period July 1, 2005 - June 30, 2006; Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2005; and program cost affidavits submitted by private provider organizations. The first two sources are submitted to the Florida Department of Financial Services and used by the State Auditor General's Office for their audit of the Department's expenditures of federal funds.
