Program Profiles

Secure Detention. When the utilization rate is under 100%, the detention center is, on average, operating below its designed capacity. When this rate is over 100%, the detention center is, on average, operating above its designed capacity. The consequences of over-utilization include overcrowding and higher youth-to-staff ratios. During FY 2006-07, the average daily population in secure detention centers was 1,831 youth and the average length of stay was 12 days. There were 54,369 admissions and 6,459 transfers to Florida's 26 secure detention centers. Transfers include transfers to home detention, other detention centers and commitment programs. Utilization statistics for secure detention facilities during FY 2006-07 are presented in the table below.

Home Detention. Secure detention facilities have a fixed capacity, whereas home detention does not. Therefore, utilization rates are not calculated for home detention. During FY 2006-07, the average daily population for home detention was 1,744 youth. During the same period, the average length of stay in home detention was 23 days. Youth on home detention status are tracked through the local (or closest) secure detention facility. Duval and Marion had the highest average daily population of youth on home detention (188 and 171, respectively). The table on the following page presents home detention utilization figures for FY 2006-07.

Program Evaluation

Detention services are evaluated through the Department's quality assurance process using a set of standards developed specifically for detention programs. Standards are based on the criteria set by national standards, state policy, and Florida Statutes.

Quality Assurance Performance

The following table ranks the detention centers based on their 2007 QA performance score. The Okaloosa Regional Juvenile Detention Center operated by the Florida Department of Juvenile Justice received the highest performance rating with an 85%.
